

Missouri Chapter of the American College of Healthcare Executives

Sponsorship Opportunities

Who we are

The American College of Healthcare Executives (ACHE) is an international professional society of more than 48,000 healthcare executives who lead hospitals, healthcare systems, and other healthcare organizations. ACHE offers its prestigious FACHE® credential, signifying board certification in healthcare management.

The Missouri Chapter of ACHE (MO-ACHE) is made up of nearly 1,000 members and is one of 80 chapters providing access to networking, education, and career development at the local level. MO-ACHE is successful because members are engaged and because it has the support of corporate partners. Plus, 45% of ACHE members are in the C-Suite and decision-making positions. Your partnership helps MO-ACHE continue to provide high-quality educational programming and networking events, close to home and at affordable rates. In return, MO-ACHE provides you with exposure and many opportunities to network and engage with healthcare executives in Missouri.

Partner with MO-ACHE

MO-ACHE's marketing exposure enables healthcare industry partners to connect. The MO-ACHE Partnership Program is designed to build long-lasting, productive, and meaningful relationships - partnerships that offer each party complimentary resources, while the parties work together. We share a mission to improve the health of patients and their communities.

If you want to connect with healthcare leaders and establish credibility in a collaborative environment, a partnership with MO-ACHE offers partners access to nearly 1,000 chapter members!
